

River Road/Howelsen Parkway Closed Sunday Morning

Local Access Only Between 8am to 10:30am Due to Triathlon

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, COLORADO-August 8, 2019-The athletes in the Olympic portion of the Steamboat Triathlon will pedal their way across sections of River Road into the Howelsen Ice Complex during the upcoming Steamboat Triathlon competition on Sunday, August 11. As a result, River Road and a portion of Howelsen Parkway, will be CLOSED from Mt. Werner Road to 5th Street to all but local traffic.

Steamboat Springs Police Community Service Officers (CSO) will be stationed at 5th Street to assist with traffic control during this time. Routt County Sheriff Deputies will be working with race organizers outside city limits and will be stationed at the intersection of River Road and Mt. Werner Road. It is recommended that motorists and recreational cyclists avoid the course route on Sunday morning if possible.

In conjunction with local law enforcement agencies, organizers have pledged volunteers to help mitigate impacts to residents in the Brooklyn Neighborhood. Event staff welcomes feedback from local residents impacted by the street closure. Residents can reach out to Lance Panigutti via email.

Howelsen Hill is also hosting the second day of the Steamboat Stinger, the marathon and half marathon segments, on Sunday. Competitors and spectators will be able to access Howelsen Hill via 5th Street and west Howelsen Parkway; however, please use caution when traveling through this area until all events have concluded.
