

Final Sip: May Coffee with Council Wraps Up Series

Council Engagement Transitions to Farmers Market Starting In June

Steamboat Springs, Colorado-May 11, 2026-Spring is in the air, summer is just around the corner, and the coffee is nearly gone — making it time for one final pour of Coffee with Council before the seasonal series wraps up.

Residents are invited to start their Friday morning on May 15 from 8–9 am in the Paachihpi Community Room at City Hall (115 10th Street) for a relaxed hour of conversation, connection, and community engagement.

As spring blooms across Steamboat Springs and summer activities begin to take shape, this final indoor gathering offers one last opportunity for residents to connect with City Council before summer outreach begins.

Coffee with Council is a relaxed, presentation-free opportunity for residents to share thoughts, ask questions, and connect directly with available City Council members in a welcoming setting.

Whether you're curious about city projects, have ideas brewing for the community, or simply want to latte your voice be heard, everyone is welcome to stop by.

After more than a decade of thoughtful conversation and community connection, Coffee with Council continues to show that great ideas often start over a simple cup of coffee. Before the program transitions to summer at the Mainstreet Steamboat Farmers Market in June, residents are invited to enjoy one last sip of community conversation this Friday.
